Message from the Publisher

Nova publication is strongly committed to publish fully researched and authentic books and instructional study-materials for raising the level of teaching-learning environment in schools and colleges across Nepal. Our motto “Marching ahead by laying the strong foundation of education in Nepal” inspires us to come out with quality instructional products both in print as well as electronic forms. Our active academic and editorial team which includes technical experts, teachers, designers, artists, trainers, professionals from different fields and research-scholars work together in order to decide the contents of textbooks and other self-learning materials (SLM). Nova's academic team verifies and analyses the topics and their related contents strictly in accordance with the curriculum framework devised by the Government of Nepal. Nothing is allowed to appear on the textbook without being crosschecked. The contents of all the topics go through a rigorous academic process in order to produce technically accurate and up-to- date knowledge. Nova Publication understands the importance of knowledge to be delivered to students at different levels and grades in all schools and colleges across the country. All the study materials published by Nova Publication Pvt. Ltd. undergo a rigorous process of generating knowledge from different sources.

Our publications such as textbooks and other self-learning materials (SLM) are based on dynamics of learning where simplest idea gradually develops into much more complex one focusing on greater specificity. Instructional products produced by Nova Publication Pvt. Ltd. are aimed at fostering both cognitive and affective development of students. The cognitive domain focuses on the intellectual development of students while the affective domain is related to the development of students' feelings, attitudes, values and emotions in positive manner.

Being a responsible stakeholder in education, the core team of Nova Publication Pvt. Ltd. holds a series of programs and sessions consisting of brainstorming, open-ended two way interaction, demonstration and feedback with triad of modern education - teachers, parents and students. Students are the ultimate beneficiary of all that we do and stand for. Nova Publication Team wishes good luck to all of you who have taken decision to build their destiny with our publications.

Thank You
